1. Source reports that Armando Amador, prominent Nicaraguan Communist and important member of the Partido Socialista de Nicaragua (PSN) is planning to attend the Conferencia Continental Americana por la Paz y la Democracia in Mexico City early in 1949. He expects to leave Nicaragua not later than the first part of February 1949. According to present plans he will go to Puerto Morazan, on the Gulf of Fonseca, and from there he will take a gasoline launch for El Salvador. He will travel without a passport, and it is expected that the necessary papers and facilities for continuing his trip will be furnished by the Confederacion de Trabajadores del Salvador.
2. It is reported that Arnoldo Silva and Ramon Zuniga Perez may possibly attend the Conference also, and that they will travel with passports. Silva is an anti-Communist member of the Sindicato de Empleados y Trabajadores de Comercio, while Zuniga Perez is the labor reporter for La Nueva Prensa and reportedly a member of the PSN.
3. Source states that thus far no Comite por la Paz y la Democracia has been organized in Nicaragua, and no propaganda has been issued with reference to the proposed conference.
